Switching between zones will generate a daily each zone entered

Please be aware that the timing and receipt of usage from rest of world destinations varies from country to country and alerts can be delayed where data is received late. Users should be encouraged to use apps on the handset to monitor data usage.

If a user spends more than £100 RRP on ROW data in a 24 hour period then as soon as this rating comes through an automatic GRPS bar will be added pending further investigation.

All O2 connections are automatically set up with Roaming 24 hour Travel Pass.

Rest of World Roaming – All O2 connections with Bellcom Communications are automatically opted into the Rest of World Travel Pass. The user can access a maximum of two travel passes in each 24 hour period GMT. Once the travel pass allowance has been utilised on the first pass, a second pass is automatically added when usage continues. Once the second pass has been utilised, the user is then charged overage rates.

It is recommended if users wish to regularly browse the web on their phones when travelling abroad, they should use wifi hotspots instead of their phone's mobile internet connection.

It is the end users responsibility to monitor their data usage and this can be done via various apps which monitor data consumption.
